Directions: Underline any red or bold words that appear in the video.

Quotation Marks

- Quotation marks (known by many names) are punctuation marks used in pairs in various writing systems to set off direct speech, a quotation, or a phrase.
- We use quotation marks with direct quotes, with titles of certain works, and to imply alternate meanings.

Quotes and Rules:

- The first rule of using quotations is that once they're opened, they have to be closed.
- The person reading your work needs to know where the quote starts and where it ends.

Example: My mother always asks, "Why is Rhode Island called Rhode Island? It is neither a road nor an island."

Ending with Quotes

If a sentence ends with quoted material, the period is placed inside the closing quotation mark, even if the period is not part of the original quotation.

Example: The president's speech both began and ended with the word "freedom."

Example: Jen had some wonderful information: "The Loch Ness Monster enjoys energy drinks."

However, if the quoted material itself ends with a question mark or exclamation point, the period is omitted.

Example: My brother yelled, "I love you, little brother!"

Example: Yesterday, he asked, "Why is it so cold on Mars?"

Incorrect Example: Yesterday, he asked, "Why is it so cold on Mars?".

Directions: In this section, please place the correct and add punctuation within the sentence.

Note: Some sentences may contain end punctuation. If they do, make sure to double-check if the punctuation marks are correct. If not, fix them.

Example: You cannot even function, " Mack Attack said, "without your stuffed llama "

Example: I quickly shifted the car into reverse, and my brother yelled, Stop You're about to run over my toes "

Example: Kit looked at me and said You should learn the science behind a mint plant
